

financial aid. It was not deemed by them as just, either to the public or to the shareholders of the bank, to place upon an absolutely sound basis the affairs of the bank, and to prevent any further operations of the bank, and to suspend operations for the present.

PLAN OF REORGANIZATION.
Accompanying this was the following paragraph:
"Mr. William Nelson Cromwell, special counsel for the Seventh National Bank, added that he was engaged in preparing a plan for the reorganization of the bank, and that it was believed that a satisfactory plan would be presented at a early date."

The following statement of the bank's assets and liabilities, "as of June 26, 1901," was also distributed to the reporters:

ASSETS.
U. S. bonds to secure circulation and deposits $1,500,000.00
Premiums and deposits $1,474,141.41
Stocks and bonds $1,212,620.85
Real estate $45,421.85
Cash and cash equivalents $1,750.00
Total $3,185,832.11

LIABILITIES.
Capital stock $500,000.00
Surplus $77,784.00
Circulation $1,474,141.41
Deposits $1,133,707.70
Total $3,185,832.11

The loans and discounts on April 24 were $2,707,179.70 and the individual deposits $3,389,086.26.

WHAT KILBURN SAYS OF STATE INSTITUTIONS.
Shortly after noon the Superintendent of the State Banking Department, Frank D. Kilburn, went into the Seventh National by the back door. Mr. Kilburn's presence led to the expectation that he was looking after the relations of some State banks or trust companies with the Seventh National. When Mr. Kilburn was seen at his office later and asked how he happened to be at the Seventh National Bank he said:

"The Controller of the Currency wanted to have a little talk with me. We had the talk and then I left the bank. It was understood that he meant Controller Davies' representative, Examiner Raynor."

"It is rumored that some of the financial institutions under your supervision are weak. What about this?"

"There is no money-rot," said Mr. Kilburn. "No State banking institution or financial concern under the supervision of the State Banking Department will be seriously affected by the failure of the Seventh National Bank, and there is no reason to believe that there will be any collapse of State banks or trust companies."

NEW YORK NATIONAL'S SMALL MARQUAND LOAN.
The clearing House Committee was informed yesterday by the Ninth National Bank that the bank had only one loan to Marquand & Co. and that this was secured by New York Central and Iron Mountain collateral, which was considered ample.

All the banks in the clearing House met their balance promptly yesterday.

Mr. Alvah Trowbridge, who is President of the New American Trust Company, of which he was at one time President, said that he had never been affected in any way by the failure of the Seventh National and that it was ridiculous to associate them at all with that bank. As to the trust company, all the bank owed the trust company, of course, was $5,130.

President Oakleigh Thorne and Director Herman Dowd of the trust company said of it practically what Mr. Trowbridge said.

JUDSON REPORTS TRUST COMPANY SOUND.
Albert C. Judson, the examiner for this district of the State Banking Department said last night:

"After the Seventh National Bank closed its doors and in consequence of current rumors I went to the office of the North American Trust Company and examined the statement book. I had made a similar examination to-day because I had already satisfied myself that the company was as sound as a bell."

He said that the time of its suspension and, of course, of its liquidation, had not been affected in any way by the failure of the Seventh National and that it was ridiculous to associate them at all with that bank. As to the trust company, all the bank owed the trust company, of course, was $5,130.

President Oakleigh Thorne and Director Herman Dowd of the trust company said of it practically what Mr. Trowbridge said.

STOCK SQUEAL FOR THE MARQUAND FIRM.
Heavy buying of stocks yesterday by H. Content & Co. was said to be to cover short contracts of Henry Marquand & Co. It was also reported that an arrangement had been made by which Content & Co. were to liquidate the affairs of Marquand & Co. but this was not verified.

When Frank B. Poor did not inform of the report he laughingly said "that would be the job," but said no more. Mr. Content said:

"That's a matter I want discuss. It does not concern the public."

Marquand & Co. had another hard day of it. They were down and heavily at the bottom of the market, 103 Broadway and were surrounded more or less in Wall Street, but they succeeded in paying all demands and in making all their deliveries. When the clearing House of the Stock Exchange meets to-day to strike a balance it was entirely known whether the day was an entirely successful one for them. There were plenty of rumors concerning the house all day. From all that could be learned it was a mighty tight squeeze. At 1 o'clock Mr. Poor said:

"We're fighting. I think we'll pull through but I don't know."

There were various rumors as to financial assistance that was coming to them. The news bureau in Wall Street reported that several "powerful banking interests" had extended aid to them. Among those whose names were mentioned was Spencer Trask & Co. Mr. Trask was seen in consultation with Mr. Poor at the latter's office but no information was obtainable from him. There was a report that Henry Marquand, father of Henry Marquand the head of the firm, had come to town from Newport but this was denied at the house. Just before 3 o'clock a messenger from the Bank of the Manhattan Company came into the firm's office with a check for $5,000. He wanted cash or a certified check for it. He was told to wait. He wouldn't and began to talk loud.

"I'll have the money or I'll bring back the draft protested," he said.

He was pacified while Mr. Poor went out. Mr. Poor returned shortly with a certified check for the amount. Two other checks each for $2,000 were also cashed after a delay which carried the time considerably past 4 o'clock.

When it was too late to make any more demands on Marquand & Co. Mr. Poor looked relieved. He was asked if it was true that Henry G. Marquand was backing him. He said:

"That's one of the sources of our strength."

"What are the others?" he asked.

"You see those three men over there," he said, pointing to a far corner of the room, where sat three prosperous-looking gentlemen. "You know Wall Street faces, don't you?"

statement applies to the brokerage firm of Henry Marquand & Co. An officer of one of the public banks said yesterday regarding this phase of the subject:

"The operations of Henry Marquand & Co. have not been regarded in Wall Street as extremely conservative and some bankers have looked upon their loans as anything but favorable. A great deal of the collateral offered has been first class, but there has been much of it which was anything but satisfactory from the banker's point of view. A substantial quantity of New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad stock has always been offered, but the remainder of the collateral offered was usually made up of securities of small negotiable value in the market. The firm's loans were frequently called over night, with the result that it had to go from bank to bank until its credit became more and more limited. In a long time the larger banks have frowned upon the firm's applications for loans and finally when the whole debt was saddled practically upon one bank it was deemed a desirable thing to shut down. This was the decision reached by the Clearing House Committee when the committee refused to help the Seventh National."

"About two years ago the Pennsylvania Railroad offered to buy the Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern Railroad from Henry Marquand & Co. at what was deemed a fair valuation. The offer was refused and the firm's difficulties practically dated from that time. I do not believe that any actual fight was made against the firm by the Pennsylvania Railroad; rather they were simply ignored by the railroad company."

SCRAMBLE FOR SEVENTH'S OUT-OF-TOWN ACCOUNTS.
No sooner had the report of the bank failure got than rival banks, some of which have been avowed by the solicitation of out-of-town accounts by the trust companies, made haste to bid for all the Seventh National out-of-town accounts. The telegraph was worked extensively, and it is said that some of the banks sent agents to out-of-town points to make personal application for the accounts. The out-of-town withdrawals from the Seventh National yesterday morning were reported to have been so heavy as to have put an end to the hopes of the bank's officers that they could get through without suspending payments. The out-of-town banks which were lucky enough to get their funds out of course needed other deposits.

MAN WHO DREW OUT $4,000 AND WAS 'ASHAMED.'
Just after the doors of the Seventh National were closed and the announcement that payment had been suspended was made, a man appeared on the edge of the crowd in front of the Broadway entrance and asked wonderingly what the matter was. Somebody told him the bank had failed.

"Well, I'll be darned! You don't mean to say this bank has busted?"

"Done up the firm, neighbor," said somebody standing near him.

"Well, I might have struck a worse stroke of luck," said the other.

"I had $4,000 in this bank when I read the papers yesterday morning. I concluded I'd better be on the safe side and get out of my money. So I came down here about noon and drew out $4,000. The more I thought of it all the rest of the day, the more I thought of it."

"What a waste of money! I had $4,000 in the bank and I made up my mind that I'd deposit that first thing in the morning. Here I am with my hundred and seventy-five. Well, I've got my four thousand and my hundred and seventy-five, and I shan't lose a lot of sleep over the eight hundred. I guess I'll get that all right."

FORMER PRESIDENT'S FAMILY DEPOSITS.
A woman in deep mourning drove up to the Broadway entrance and tried vainly to push her way through the crowd in front of the bank's doors. She hadn't heard what had happened, and when she learned it, it seemed for a moment as if she were about to faint.

She collected herself, however, and said that she and her husband were large depositors in the bank. She said that her husband, Mr. Robert C. Allen, had been a director of the bank, and that she had been a member of the board of directors.

She said that her husband had been a member of the board of directors for many years. It was learned later that Mrs. Allen was the daughter of the late Alfred S. Fraser, who was for many years cashier of the Seventh Ward Bank and from about 1885 to 1895 its President.

MR. FRASER'S CHURCH HAS SOME MONEY THERE.
Another early caller at the bank was the Rev. James H. McGeehan, rector of St. Peter's Catholic Church in Barclay street. Father McGeehan said that some of the church money was deposited in the bank, but that the amount was not particularly large, and that he had no doubt that the amount would be repaid in full.

"At any rate," said Father McGeehan, "the bank is closed, and our money is inside, and since none of us are particularly handy with a jimmy, I don't know what we are going to do about it."

Lacked the circumstances there is no use worrying."

VALUABLE CARRIED TO FOURTH NATIONAL.
About noon a big truck drove up to the job entrance and pretty soon a strong box was brought out guarded by some formidable-looking citizens in plain clothes. The box was put on the truck and the truck was driven away to the Fourth National Bank. It was learned later that the strong box contained $25,000 in cash and $25,000 in securities. At the Fourth National Bank it was said that the money and securities had been sent there by order of the Controller of the Currency and that he was responsible for it.

EFFECT ON THE STOCK MARKET.
News of the failure reached the Stock Exchange about 11 o'clock, and there was a sharp break in the market in consequence. Stocks fell off all along the line. St. Paul closed in the red, with a drop of 4 points. Union Pacific dropped 3 points. Later there was a rally, but in most of the stocks the high prices of the morning were not reached before the closing.

The New York City and New Jersey Railroad fell 1 point, and the Erie Railroad fell 1 point. The Erie Railroad was a marked improvement and free trading in the afternoon, the rate closing at 100. The Erie Railroad was a marked improvement and free trading in the afternoon, the rate closing at 100.

12-HOUR ATTACK BY BOERS.

BRITISH GARRISON'S STOUT DEFENCE SAVES RICHMOND.

Invaders of Cape Colony Penetrated into the Town, but Failed to Drive Defenders From the Forts—One Group of Eight Captured—Boers Retire Before New Forces Arrive.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
From THE SUN Correspondent at Cape Town, June 27.—The Boer invaders, under Main and Smal, about 3,000 strong, attacked Richmond early on Tuesday morning. The town was defended by a detachment of the North Staffordshire Militia under Capt. Hawkeham and the town guard.

Three sangars, or intrenchments, outside the town were captured by the Boers, the garrison being distributed principally at the jail fort and Flagstaff Hill fort. Owing to the capture of the sangars Flagstaff Hill fort was exposed to a heavy fire.

Three times during the day Commandant Main sent messengers demanding the surrender of the town and each time the demand was refused. The Boers took advantage of the opportunity during the cessation of hostilities to better their positions, and on the last occasion that the messenger was sent in a party of burghers entered the town and effected the capture of a sangar in Market Square. Not a shot was fired and the white flag carried by the messenger.

The Boers, who were now only 300 yards from the jail fort, were securely covered and directed a continuous fire for two hours upon the defenders, who stoutly held the position. It was impossible to capture either the jail fort or Flagstaff Hill fort. The Boers turned their attention to another sangar in the town, which was held by eight men. Three eight men, after having held the position for eleven hours, surrendered at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

After dark the British garrison strengthened the fortifications and they anticipated a renewal of the attack in the morning. During the night, however, the Boers learned that relief was approaching for the beleaguered men and withdrew. They captured twelve homes and looted the stores.

The engagement lasted twelve hours. The Boer loss is reported as five men killed and seven wounded. The British casualties are not given.

On Wednesday morning Col. Landis with a relieving column entered the town.

CUBA'S ELECTORAL LAW.
Question of Giving Some Classes More Than One Vote Now Being Discussed.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
HAYANA, June 27.—The commission on the Electoral Law has finished its report, but it has not yet been published. Conservative delegates say the report is too radical to be accepted. The subject of discussion now is whether voters should be allowed to have more than one vote. Some of the most conservative delegates propose that besides the vote which every man has he should also be allowed an extra vote if he is the father of a family or if he pays more than a certain amount of taxes, or if he has a degree. In this way one man could have four votes. This is proposed as an offset to universal suffrage.

It is also said that the radicals propose to insert a clause in the Electoral law whereby the Government will have nothing to say in electoral matters, all of these being left to the decision of electoral boards nominated by the different parties. This is regarded by some as too radical.

There is much talk regarding the candidates of the National party for the Presidency. This talk centres around Maximiliano Gomez and Tomas Estrada Palma, although it is said that many would vote for Gomez would not vote for Palma. Maso is another probable candidate.

LONDON FETE RAISES $15,000.
Duchess of Sutherland Says Every One With Money Was Not Admitted.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, June 27.—Lady Algonquin Gordon-Lennox in an interview to-day said that although her sister, the Duchess of Sutherland, had expected to make $15,000 at her latest evening for the benefit of the National Relief Association, she had already received $25,000. Fifteen hundred people were present, of whom 500 bought three guinea tickets, and 750 two-guinea tickets. Souvenirs brought in $200.

The Duchess of Sutherland wished it to be understood that the 250 supper tickets which she had sold for the first million were for the most part her personal friends.

EARL'S SON DIES A SHOWMAN.
The Hon. Eric Lascelles Had Been Showing Moving Pictures at Country Fairs.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, June 27.—The coroner at Cheltenham has received information of the death of a travelling showman, who passed for years in the name of Earl Lascelles, but who has been identified as the Hon. Eric Lascelles, half-brother to the Earl of Harrowood. Lascelles arrived at the town of Willesley last Sunday with a caravan and two horses. He had been displaying moving pictures at various country fairs. He had been drinking heavily for some weeks, and was believed to say that this was due to worry about his brother Francis, who recently killed his servant in British Columbia.

CHARITY FETE AT VERSAILLES.
Comtesse de Castellane Among the Participants—Many American Visitors.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
PARIS, June 27.—The charity fete at the Petit Trianon was held to-day. The arrangements were perfect. The scheme is a large representation of France, tableaux, dances and shadow scenes set amid the beauties of Versailles.

Among the ladies who participated were the Duchesses de la Rochefoucauld, Princess Murat, Comtesse de Castellane, Princess Polignac and many other beautiful women. At 4 o'clock the gardens were crowded. There was a large attendance of American visitors.

Express Frederick Growing Wiser.
Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, June 27.—A despatch from Cologne states that it is now doubtful whether the Emperor goes on his contemplated trip to the North because of the serious condition of his mother, the Dowager Empress Frederick. Authentic information is unobtainable, but she is known to be growing wiser.

PREPARING FOR COURT'S RETURN.

Chinese Survey at Peking Order Imperial Palace Put in Order.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
From THE SUN Correspondent at Peking, June 27.—On account of the ambiguity of the language of the demands for reforming the court ceremonial it is understood that the Ministers will consent that the chairs in which they will be conveyed to audience with the Emperor shall bear the Imperial colors instead of being imperial chairs. This really means the same thing. The Ministers are firm, however, in their demand that they shall be carried to the entrance of the reception building. The Chinese strongly object to the chairs being carried nearer than the third building from the Emperor.

At the request of the Japanese, Ma Tung, who was appointed envoy to the Mikado of Japan to apologize for the murder of the Japanese Chancellor of Legation last summer, will not start on his journey until cooler weather sets in.

An edict was received to-day providing for the dismissal of hundreds of clerks on account of the long-continued abuses in the Board of Civil Appointments and the destruction of the records. Heretofore the appointments of civil officials were largely in control of these several hundred clerks.

The Chinese envoys have ordered that work on the repairs to imperial property be commenced at once on account of the early return of the court.

The request of the Rev. Mr. Murray's mission for the blind for the confiscated property of Yang Yi has been refused. Mr. Murray, however, has received other suitable property and a money compensation covering in full the losses of the mission. A majority of the blind boys who were supposed to have been killed last year have since been found, two having escaped overland to Manchuria. The school will be reopened.

MANCURIAN CITIES SEIZED.
Bandits Take Possession of Four Near Monkland—Refugees Flee to Glasgow.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
SHANGHAI, June 27.—News has been received here from Manchuria by way of Chefoo to the effect that bandits have seized four walled cities near Monkland. About 10,000 persons have fled to the Gulf of Pechili and taken refuge at Chefoo.

Another large secret society is very active near Hankow.

DEFUNCT BANK'S MANAGER ARRESTED.
Police Take a Hand in the Leipzig Bank Failure.

Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LEIPZIG, June 27.—Herr Emmer, manager of the defunct Leipzig Bank, was arrested last night.

BENTIN, June 27.—Officers of the Berliner Bank state that the bank holds only one acceptance of the Leipzig Bank. The amount is for a half million marks and is fully secured.

British Escape After Nine-Hour Fight.
Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
CAPE TOWN, June 27.—A patrol of six Cape police and twelve Dordrecht Volunteers unexpectedly encountered a portion of the Boer commando in the morning. The Boers retreated, fighting from kopje to kopje for nine hours, finally reaching Alwal North unscathed. The corporal commanding has been promoted.

Suspected Steward Released.
Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
BERLIN, June 27.—Theodore Mager, the bedroom steward on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, who was suspected of the theft of gold on that steamer's trip from New York last April, was released from custody yesterday afternoon.

Big Price for Hoppen's Painting.
Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, June 27.—The "Taming of the Shrew" picture, which was sold at William's auction room to-day, it was Hoppen's three-quarter length painting of Lady Louisa Manners, afterward Countess of Dysart, and was bought by Duveen for 14,500 guineas.

Speaker Henderson Going to Windsor.
Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, June 27.—Speaker Henderson, under the escort of Henry White, secretary to the American Embassy, will visit Windsor Castle to-morrow. He will afterward visit William Penn's grave in Buckinghamshire.

Duke of Manchester's Creditors Agree.
Special Cable Dispatch to THE SUN.
LONDON, June 27.—The creditors of the Duke of Manchester held a meeting to-day and agreed to accept a settlement of twelve and a half shillings in the pound.

ELITA PROCTOR OTIS WEDS.

MARRIED TO WILLIAM C. CAMP IN DR. PARKHURST'S CHURCH.

Played Her Part in "The Briton Burglar"—Last Night in Her Wedding Gown—Will Continue Her Stage Work—The Bridegroom Says He's to Be a Stock Broker.

The betrothal of summer's stage world was enlivened yesterday by the announcement of the marriage of Elita Proctor Otis, the actress, to William Carpenter Camp, the ex-President of the Ester & Camp Organ Company. The date for the marriage was an indefinite one until the first of the week, when it was decided to close "The Briton Burglar," in which Miss Otis plays the part of the numerous mother-in-law, at the Herald Square Theatre. Accompanied by a half dozen friends Miss Otis and Mr. Camp went to the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, where they were married by the Rev. Dr. Coe. Dr. Parkhurst's assistant, Theodore L. Barrett of Louisville, Ky., was best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the Hotel Savoy, where a wedding dinner was given. Miss Otis appeared in "The Briton Burglar" last night wearing a gown of white lace over white silk, which had served as her bridal dress. The news of the marriage had reached the audience and an extra round of applause greeted her first entrance.

Mrs. Camp's stage career has been a long and brilliant one. Always a clever amateur actress, she made successful professional debut in Boston in 1852 in "The Trust of Society." Subsequently, as Nancy Sykes, in a dramatization of "Oliver Twist" she took her place among the strong emotional actresses of the day.

Her greatest successes have been in the dramatic adventures parts in such dramas as "Spotting Life" and "Women and Wine." Previous to her stage career Mrs. Camp was a literary worker. She was for a year the owner and editor of a literary and social paper called the Saturday Review.

Mrs. Camp is a man of about 30, who used to live in Chicago. He is the son of the late Isaac N. Camp and a member of the Lamb's Club. Next year, he says, he will become a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He was recently divorced, his first wife being Edith Schuyler. Mrs. Camp will for the present continue her stage work and hints at starting next year.

THEATRICAL NOTES.
"The Beggar Student" Revived at Terrace Garden—The Garrick to Close.

The Parry Opera Company revived "The Beggar Student" last night at Terrace Garden. Villa Knox, Hubert Wilke, Frederick Knights and Louis Casavant sang Mikullos' music excellently. The lighter and more comical parts were admirably taken by Mamie Gilroy and Frank Dehnen. Scenically, the production was satisfactory.

George Frobert made his first appearance in Joseph Holland's part in "The Briton Burglar," playing it very well.

The heat knocked out another theatre. It was decided yesterday to end the run of "Captain Jack" at the Herald Square Theatre. The Garrick on Saturday evening. The management says that this will be the hundredth performance of the comedy at this theatre. No star, excepting Maude Adams, has made such a record in her first season as Ethel Barrymore has. She will appear in "Captain Jack" at the Herald Square Theatre on Saturday evening. The Garrick will run on August 19 with "Are You a Mason?"

Fred J. Titus, whose pleasant voice he mentioned as Edna May's husband and late of the Hotel de New York, was engaged yesterday for "The Chaperone" at the Grand Hotel. He will also be in "The Chaperone" at the Grand Hotel.

A contract was signed yesterday for Madryn Arbuckle to become a member of Stuart Robinson's company next season in a revival of "The Henrietta." The following year Mr. Arbuckle intends to make another try as a star in a new play.

Mary Manning will return from her trip abroad to-day. She will appear in "The Taming of the Shrew" at the Grand Hotel on Saturday evening. The management says that this will be the hundredth performance of the comedy at this theatre. No star, excepting Maude Adams, has made such a record in her first season as Ethel Barrymore has. She will appear in "Captain Jack" at the Herald Square Theatre on Saturday evening. The Garrick will run on August 19 with "Are You a Mason?"

The Shakespearean outlook for next season continues to broaden. Robert MacNeil has decided to leave the Grand Hotel and go to the Grand Hotel. He will appear in "The Chaperone" at the Grand Hotel.

Dr. W. W. MOON INJURED.
Wheel of an Automobile Collapses and He Is Thrown Out.

L. W. Moon of Moon place, Newark, was thrown out of his automobile yesterday morning by the collapse of
